I love San Mateo and believe our city deserves practical, independent leadership that puts residents first. I have spent my career solving problems, not pursuing politics. I believe City Hall should listen first, operate transparently, solve problems, and earn public trust through results.

For more than 40 years, I have helped cities solve transportation, traffic, parking, and infrastructure challenges through innovation and sound management. As a Business Executive of a technology company, I deliver results through hands-on problem-solving, responsible budgeting, and accountability.

I have also devoted thousands of volunteer hours to serving our community through the San Mateo Police Department Neighborhood Watch Program, nonprofit leadership, resident advocacy, and support for senior and youth programs. Those experiences have taught me that progress comes from listening, collaborating, following through, and putting residents first.

Before asking taxpayers for more, City Hall must first make the best possible use of the resources it already has. My priorities are straightforward: protecting public safety, exercising fiscal responsibility, maintaining infrastructure, reducing traffic congestion, respecting personal choice, enhancing neighborhood quality of life, and planning for the future. I will work to earn your trust by making common-sense decisions that build A Better San Mateo. I would be honored to earn your support. www.tasoforsanmateo.com
