

I am a proud product of San Mateo. I was born here; attended elementary, middle and high school here; and have lived in our Village and Shoreview neighborhoods for most of my life. I know firsthand the power of this community to create fulfilling and vibrant lives for residents of all walks of life, and for this reason, I am grateful to call San Mateo home.

However, we cannot rest on our laurels. Ensuring that San Mateo remains a beacon of opportunity for everyone requires hard work and constant renewal. This is especially true in District 4, where residents have historically lacked strong representation on our city council.

District 4 deserves more, and I intend to champion the needs of our community.

From my leadership of the Flood Free San Mateo coalition (which transformed the city's approach to flood and stormwater infrastructure after the devastating floods of 2022 and 2023), my Presidency of the Shoreview-Parkside Neighborhood Association, my role in the Neighborhood Watch Board, and my countless hours knocking on doors across the eastside of San Mateo, I know what matters most to residents.

That's why I'm focused on expanding infrastructure and public safety investments, responsible community-centered development, and government accountability.
